Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
England and Wales will have a dry and sunny morning but outbreaks of rain crossing Scotland will edge into western parts during the morning. This will fragment during the afternoon but with further scattered thundery showers breaking out across southwestern parts in the evening. Meanwhile brighter conditions with showers will effect northwest Britain. Very warm in the southeast.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

Many places will have a mix of sunny spells and heavy showers, some of which will be thundery. Warm in many places on Saturday, especially in the southeast but becoming cooler and fresher on Sunday. Generally breezy particularly in the west.
