

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Sunday 02 Mar 2014

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Cloudy start for many with patchy rain. Through the day, persistent and occasionally heavy rain will move eastwards, clearing some western areas in the afternoon and not reaching the far east until evening. Overnight, rain will clear away eastwards, with drier and clearer conditions following. Scattered showers, some heavy, feeding into southern and western areas later.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Monday, sunshine and showers across England and Wales, locally heavy with hail and thunder. More persistent rain affecting northeast Scotland, and Northern Ireland for a time. Further showers on Tuesday, sometimes heavy with hail and thunder in the north and also wintry on hills.
