Air Quality Forecast for the UK

Issued by the Met Office

Today: A small circulation initially across southwest England will gradually drift away south, resulting in cold and clean air flowing across the UK. This will maintain Low levels of air pollution.

Tomorrow: The same cold and clean air will cover the UK, along with showers for some places. As a result air pollution levels will remain predominantly Low on Sunday.

Outlook: Despite southern areas having some settled conditions at first, with more unsettled weather for northern areas and later the entire UK, still air pollution levels will be predominantly Low.
