

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Wednesday 08 Apr 2009

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Rain across Scotland will turn more showery, then northern areas will have sunny intervals and blustery showers, though these should die out later. Rain across southeast England will clear this morning, then southern areas will be mostly dry with sunny periods. A windy day, gales for some northern areas. but easing later.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Thursday, mostly cloudy and windy with rain or drizzle, this prolonged and perhaps heavy for some western areas. Eastern parts of England drier and at times brighter, and becoming locally warm. Good Friday, cloudy with organised rain edging eastwards, some becoming heavy and prolonged.

(C) Crown Copyright 2009. Published by the Met Office.