Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A mostly dry day with long sunny spells developing in places, especially in southern and western parts of England and Wales. Cloud will persist in some areas, mainly in the Midlands and northern Scotland, where there may be a little light drizzle at times.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
It will remain settled and often cloudy with a little light rain or drizzle in places, although with some bright or sunny spells. It may be chilly at times, with a risk of frost in clear spells overnight. Light winds are expected for most, although turning breezy at times in the far north and far south.
