

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Thursday 05 Mar 2015

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It will be largely dry with some sunshine, particularly across the south and east. Cloud will be thicker across the west with heavy and persistent rain across the far northwest. Winds will be strong in the north with gales in the northwest but all areas will be fairly mild. Similar conditions will continue overnight with a frost-free night for all.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Persistent and heavy rain will continue to affect northwestern areas but it should be mostly dry elsewhere with the best brightness towards the south and east. Winds will strengthen for all areas by Saturday but it will turn even milder.
