Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a wet and windy day in the far northwest of the UK but largely dry elsewhere. The best of the sunshine is expected in the south and east, but it will be a chilly and perhaps foggy start here. Brisk southerly winds will keep temperatures above average and maintain the mild feel.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
There will be plenty of sunshine on Wednesday, with rain becoming confined to the far northwest of the country. After a chilly start on Thursday, it will turn cloudier and breezier, with outbreaks of rain spreading across some western parts of the UK.
