

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Sunday 16 May 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a chilly start most places will be dry with sunny spells, although showers will break out locally during the day, especially in eastern parts of both England and Scotland where a few will become heavy. Northern Ireland will become cloudy later with a few spots of rain.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Southeastern areas will be mainly dry and bright on Tuesday whereas the north and west will be cloudier with a little showery rain. On Wednesday western and southern parts will be cloudy with a few patches of rain or drizzle whereas the north and east will be warmer, mainly dry and bright.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.