

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 03 Jun 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
The majority of Wales, Northern Ireland and northern England should see a mixture of sunny spells and isolated showers, but it is likely to be cloudier across Scotland with a few showers or occasional rain. It should be dry and sunny elsewhere, and feel particularly warm across southeast England. Winds will be light and rather variable.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

On Saturday, the mixture of bright spells and isolated showers will continue, but showers are likely to become more frequent on Sunday with less in the way of sunshine. Temperatures should become nearer normal, with winds remaining light and quite changeable.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.