++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a bright start over eastern parts of the UK but patchy rain will spread here through the day. Outbreaks of rain will continue further west, heavy at times in the northwest of England and southwestern Scotland. It will be mainly dry in southeastern England but cloud will increase from the west during the afternoon.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

There will be brisk southwesterly winds on Sunday, and an area of rain will spread northeastwards across the country. However, clearer, more showery weather will follow during the afternoon. Another spell of persistent rain is expected on Monday but winds will be lighter.
