Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Early misty conditions early tomorrow morning should burn away fairly quickly, at least inland, leaving another dry, warm and largely fine day with light winds, sunny spells and patchy cloud developing. Some areas of mist around southern and eastern coasts may take a while to clear however.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Staying fine, dry, warm and sunny for most of the UK on Saturday, but with a fair southeasterly breeze developing in places. By Sunday, a lot of fine and warm weather still, but with an increasing risk of heavy, and perhaps thundery showers developing towards the southwest of the UK.
