

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 05 Oct 2007

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Patches of mist and fog are expected initially on Saturday, these dispersing to give most parts another dry, bright day. There is likely to be more cloud around across England and Wales, compared with Friday, but some sunny spells are still expected. A little rain will affect central parts of Scotland and, later, Northern Ireland. Feeling pleasant in the sunshine.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Most places will remain dry with variable cloud and some bright or sunny spells. Cloud will be thick enough across southern Scotland on Sunday to give a little light rain, with a few showers possible across northern England on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2007. Published by the Met Office.