++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It will turn increasingly cloudy in the north today, with some showery rain for parts of Scotland and Northern Ireland, which may turn heavier overnight. Further south it should remain dry with some warm sunny spells though it may start to turn cloudier from the west later.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Many places should have a fine and dry day tomorrow with further sunny spells. However it will be cloudier and breezier in the northwest where further outbreaks of rain are likely. The cloud and rain should gradually push south on Wednesday but it should ease as it goes.
