Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A drier and brighter day for many tomorrow, with just occasional showers and lighter winds than today. However, further heavy rain is expected to spread across southern parts of the UK during the afternoon, reaching parts of northern England through the evening.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Showery outbreaks of rain will clear eastwards through Friday morning, so brightening up from the west. But further wet and very windy weather will arrive into southwestern areas overnight, spreading northeastwards across the UK on Saturday morning, with frequent, blustery showers following, and snow possible on northern hills.
