Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Many parts of the UK will start Tuesday rather cloudy, with some fog patches inland, and perhaps more extensive low cloud and fog around coasts and hills in the west. Through the day, the cloud across many central and eastern parts will thin and break, with some warm sunshine developing.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
After a fairly cloudy start, many southern areas will see increasing amounts of sunny spells developing although with showery rain across northwestern areas. It will feel very warm in the sunshine and light winds. It will turn breezier through Thursday with showers in the west but remaining mainly dry elsewhere.
