++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Cloudy and less cold conditions will continue to push southwards, with a few light showers in places, especially likely towards the east. Brighter conditions with some sunny spells will follow from the north. Winds will tend to ease in the south, but increase across the northeast.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

Both Sunday and Monday will be mainly dry but rather cloudy, though there will be some bright or sunny spells by day, and clear spells at night. Temperatures should return to nearer normal in the north, but remain generally below in the south, with patchy overnight frost under any clear spells.
