Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain will persist across central and northern parts of Scotland through Saturday and it will also remain rather windy. Elsewhere it will be largely dry with sunny spells and only isolated showers for most of the day before rain arrives in Northern Ireland towards the end of the day.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
The rather unsettled weather looks set to continue through Sunday and Monday with wet and windy conditions affecting many of us at times as bands of rain are pushed eastwards across the United Kingdom. There will however be some brighter and drier conditions between these bands of rain.
