Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will remain rather cool and windy with outbreaks of rain in the far north, and further showers, these wintry over the Scottish hills. Elsewhere, it will be mostly dry with light winds and sunny spells, with just isolated showers developing. It will feel pleasant in any prolonged sunshine in the south.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

A bright, chilly start for many on Friday, though cloudier in the far southwest with some outbreaks of rain. Turning increasingly cloudy elsewhere throughout the day as more persistent, and locally heavy, rain pushes northeastwards.
Saturday will be breezy with some sunshine and showers or rain.
