++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain across Northern Ireland, northern England, Wales and southern Scotland. Northern Scotland should have a fine morning, although some rain is likely later. Elsewhere, rather cloudy in western areas with occasional drizzle but southeastern parts should stay dry, largely sunny and very warm.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

Many places dry with sunny intervals on Sunday, although scattered showers are likely in Northern Ireland and western Scotland and there is also a chance of a few heavy showers in southern and eastern England. Similar on Monday but showers a bit more widespread and becoming increasingly cloudy from the southwest later.
