

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Tuesday 22 Apr 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a generally cloudy morning for much of Scotland and eastern England with rain spreading eastward around or shortly after dawn. Drier, brighter conditions are expected in the west, and these will extend throughout during the day, with only isolated showers developing. However, scattered afternoon showers are likely across Northern Ireland.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Showers and longer spells of rain will develop in the west on Thursday then push eastwards during the day, with brighter conditions following and some, often quite sharp, showers. Largely fine on Friday morning, but rain returning during the day, becoming locally heavy in the west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.