Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Heavy rain across Wales and northwest England will move eastwards tomorrow morning. It will leave cloudy weather behind it with light rain or drizzle for central and southern parts where it will be very mild. Scotland, Northern Ireland and the far north of England will be dry and bright all day, although rather windy again.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

More rain and strong winds will move into the northwest on Friday, spreading into Wales and the Midlands during the day. The southeast will stay largely dry. However, the band of rain will continue into the south on Saturday, leaving dryer breezy skies behind it.
