Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
High pressure will bring another fine day across many parts with a good deal of warm sunshine. However, it will be cloudier across southwestern England where there may be some localised thundery showers. Thicker cloud across the far north of Scotland may also give a little light rain here later.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Remaining largely fine across northern parts on Friday and into Saturday. However, across southern parts, it will be warm and very humid on Friday with isolated thunderstorms giving way to a band of heavy, and in places thundery, rain later. This rain will push north in central parts during Saturday.
