++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It will be much brighter today for most, with warm sunny spells. There is a risk of catching the odd brief shower, especially across the northern half of the UK, and these may turn heavy in some places. Any showers will clear by the evening though, leaving a dry night across the UK.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Tomorrow morning, rain will gradually spread in from the west, with some heavy bursts at times. Many central and southeastern parts of England may stay dry for much of the day though, with the rain arriving later. Thursday will be breezy with sunshine and showers.
