

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Tuesday 02 Oct 2007

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Rain, some heavy, and moderate southerly winds, will push across N.Ireland into western Britain during the morning with showers following. Largely cloudy with spots of light rain initially elsewhere. Rain will spread across northern England and much of Scotland through the day, but the rest of England should gradually become drier and brighter and rather warm with light winds.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:
Cloudy and showery across northern and western Scotland on Thursday morning, but becoming drier and brighter through the day. Largely dry with some sunny spells elsewhere. Mostly fine on Friday, but rain will edge southeast across Scotland later. Temperatures around normal.

(C) Crown Copyright 2007. Published by the Met Office.