Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
It'll be a misty and foggy start for some this morning, though that will lift during the morning to leave a bright day with patchy cloud and plenty of sunshine. It'll feel warm in the sunshine with light winds. Tonight will be dry and chilly with clear spells, again, some mist and fog may form in prone locations.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

Through Sunday, cloud and patchy rain will approach from the west, reaching western fringes of Wales, England and Scotland by dusk. Elsewhere, it'll be fine and dry with sunny spells. Monday is looking fairly wet with showers and longer spells of rain.
