

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 02 Sep 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
After a chilly and perhaps misty start, it will be a dry and fine day with plenty of warm sunshine, and just a little fair-weather cloud bubbling up during the afternoon. Winds should stay light and broadly southeasterly throughout the day.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

On Saturday, most of the UK should see dry conditions with some sunshine, however Northern Ireland and some western areas of Britain will turn cloudier with perhaps some rain later. By Sunday all areas of the UK should enjoy dry weather, with the best of the sunshine in England and Wales. Southeasterly winds will gradually strengthen later on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.