

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Friday 01 Jan 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Wintry showers are likely across Northern and Eastern Scotland, and Northern England. Long spells of sunshine are expected elsewhere, but a few wintry showers may develop in some western parts from midday. Wintry showers continuing across northeastern parts of the UK overnight, with a few showers affecting Wales and Southwest England for a time. Mostly dry elsewhere but bitterly cold.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Further wintry showers across Scotland and Northern England over the weekend with a few scattered showers spreading to central and eastern parts of England on Saturday evening. Largely dry and fine elsewhere but very cold with overnight frost and ice.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.