Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a fairly cloudy start to the weekend, particularly in central and eastern parts where there will also be some early showers. Through the day sunny spells will develop, however further heavy and locally thundery showers will form across the south and west. It will feel warm in the sunshine with light winds.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
It'll remain mixed on Sunday with some warm spells of sunshine but with further heavy showers developing in the west. Into Monday, cloud will steadily increase from the east heralding the arrival of more unsettled conditions later in the day, particularly in the south-east.
