Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
A chilly start for many on Tuesday, followed by a largely fine and dry day with some prolonged periods of sunshine, which may be hazy in the south. Lighter winds, though gales at first for northeast Scotland and the Northern Isles.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Wednesday, a cold and bright start in the east, but cloud and outbreaks of rain in the west moving eastwards, this heavy at times in the west and drier conditions following from late afternoon. Thursday, starting dry and chilly for many, with some sunshine, but increasing cloud, stronger winds and rain moving eastwards from late morning.
