++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be another cold day for many. The snow, across Scotland and Northern Ireland, will gradually move southwards and ease, with further snow showers following behind in the far north. For the rest of the UK, it will be mostly sunny, especially towards the west, but some sleet or snow showers will affect eastern England for a time.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:
Both Wednesday and Thursday will remain cold with an overnight sharp frost for many, except for parts of northwest Britain. Further snow showers are likely towards eastern areas, but it will be mostly dry elsewhere, with some bright and sunny spells.
