++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Today will be sunny, warm and dry again for most, though there will be more cloud in the northeast of England. Showery rain will develop in Northern Ireland and the far southwest of Wales and England during the afternoon. The rain will spread a little further east overnight but most parts will stay dry and mild with clear periods.

Outlook for Thursday and Friday:

Thursday will be warm, dry and sunny again for most, though there will be one or two showers in the far south and west. Rain will arrive in the west on Friday and spread eastwards, though far eastern parts will stay dry.
