Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Some morning brightness is likely across southern England with some sunny spells also developing across eastern Scotland during the afternoon. Otherwise a generally cloudy and windy day is expected with outbreaks of rain, some of which may be heavy. Feeling rather cold in the fresh to strong westerly winds.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:

Friday and Saturday will generally be brighter than Thursday, but cold and windy. Blustery showers are expected and these will become increasingly wintry through this period, with the driest conditions in the west and the most frequent showers, sometimes heavy and thundery, in the east.
