

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 26 Jun 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Friday will be rather cloudy with outbreaks of rain in some places, especially western parts of the country, and these may be heavy in Scotland. Elsewhere it will be a little brighter at times but still rather cloudy generally with a few showers. Fresh southwesterly winds.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:
Saturday will be fairly cloudy again in most parts, though it should brighten up through the day with some sunshine developing in the afternoon, particularly in the east. On Sunday showers are likely which may be heavy and prolonged in the north of the country.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.