Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
There will be a mixture of sunshine and showers across England and Wales, with some hail and thunder possible in the south. Rain is going to persist over northeast Scotland, further rain is likely for Northern Ireland later, whilst elsewhere should be mostly dry.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Showers for most to start Tuesday, these should generally ease but may linger in the north where they could be thundery. More persistent rain is possible in the northwest and southwest. Wednesday should be generally cloudy with a few spots of light rain possible during the morning. More persistent rain may arrive into the northwest later.
