Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Many parts will see sunny spells and showers through Saturday. Showers will be focussed across the south and west, possibly heavy, and wintry in nature over higher ground. More persistent precipitation will affect some northern areas for a time. The driest conditions will be across central and eastern England, but it will be rather cold and breezy across all areas.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Remaining largely unsettled with some sunny spells but with further showers for many. On Sunday, an area of heavy and persistent rain is expected across parts of England and Wales, possibly wintry over higher ground. Staying rather cold and breezy.
