Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Outbreaks of heavy rain will continue across southeastern England during much of the morning, then clearing away. Many places having some bright or sunny spells, but with scattered showers developing in western and northern areas, these occasionally heavy over high ground. Some central and eastern areas will have a largely dry day.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

It will be largely dry at first on Monday, but then heavy rain will spread eastwards on Monday. Becoming dry and clear overnight, and at first in eastern areas on Tuesday, before further heavy rain and strong winds spread eastwards through the day.
