Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Fog in eastern England and Scotland, including some dense patches, will take until late morning to clear in places, perhaps lingering even longer on the east coast. Otherwise, a dry day with plenty of hazy sunshine and mostly light winds, again becoming very warm in many places.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

On both days, most places will be fine and dry with plenty of sunshine. Parts of southern and southeast England, as well as North Sea coastal areas, are the most likely to see overnight fog, this perhaps lingering through the day on the coasts. Mainly light winds, but breezier along English Channel coasts.
