Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be fine, warm and sunny for a majority of the country with some scattered cloud developing later in the south. However southeast England may experience more in the way of cloud later, especially along the coast where it may also turn misty. It will feel cooler around coasts affected by sea breezes.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Mainly settled and dry for most of the country with a good deal of sunshine. Feeling cooler over the east and southeast with a chilly northeasterly breeze developing. Cloud amounts generally increasing with perhaps the odd light shower, particularly in northern Scotland and southern England.
