Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Monday will be a day of sunny intervals and scattered showers. Many of the showers will be light, although there will be a few heavier ones around too. Later in the afternoon the showers will die away from most areas but thickening cloud will spread rain into Cornwall towards evening.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:

Most of Scotland will have a fine day on Tuesday, but rain in southern England will spread slowly northwards, reaching Northern Ireland and northern England later in the day. There will be some heavy bursts in the southwest. Wednesday will be generally unsettled with showers or longer spells of rain.
