Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

On Tuesday there will be sunny intervals and scattered showers across many areas, the showers locally heavy across the north but lighter and more isolated than of late in the south. Showers will be dying away across many central and southern areas towards the evening with rain spreading in across the south-west later.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

An area of locally heavy rain will be spreading north-eastwards across the UK during Wednesday, although the heaviest rain looks as though it will be across the south with lighter rain in the north. Thursday will see sunny spells and scattered showers, although rain across Scotland.
