

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Friday 03 Jan 2014

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Very windy again with widespread gales, severe around southern and western coasts giving a risk of coastal flooding. There will be blustery showers and sunny spells for many but more persistent rain is expected for Scotland and Northern Ireland. Showers will continue in many areas overnight, heavy at times in the south, and winds will gradually weaken by morning.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

There will be some sunny spells on Saturday, but showers or longer spells of rain are likely, and perhaps some snow on northern hills. Following a bright start on Sunday it will quickly turn wet and windy again from the southwest.

(C) Crown Copyright 2014. Published by the Met Office.