

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Friday 10 Feb 2012

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Northern and western parts of the United Kingdom will have a fairly cloudy day with outbreaks of rain in places. Southern and eastern parts will be generally dry though, with a good deal of sunshine. It will be generally cold in the south and east, with temperatures struggling to rise above freezing, but milder in the north and west.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:
Sunday will be a generally cloudy day across the UK, with light rain in places and sleet or snow possible in the southeast. Strong, north or northwesterly winds will develop on Monday with showers in places. Feeling less cold than recently.

(C) Crown Copyright 2012. Published by the Met Office.