

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Monday 08 Feb 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A cloudy start for many parts, especially in the south, with breaks in western areas allowing bright or sunny intervals and these developing more widely through the day. Wintry showers will affect many eastern and some central areas. Cold generally, with brisk northeasterly winds in the south.

Outlook for Wednesday and Thursday:

Largely dry with some sunny periods for western areas. Eastern parts cloudier with occasional snow showers, these likely to give significant accumulations in the far southeast. Further rain, sleet or snow moving south across Scotland on Thursday. Staying cold on both days with widespread frost.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.