Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A better day for many with sunshine and scattered showers. These mainly in the west, frequent across northwestern Scotland, with eastern England seeing few if any showers. It will be a blustery day with gales likely in the far north.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

A band of rain and strong winds will push slowly east across the country on Monday with gales likely along the coast. This rain will clear eastern parts overnight, with sunny spells and scattered showers following on Tuesday, some of which will be heavy and locally thundery. Wet and windy conditions will push into southwestern parts during the evening.
