Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will be a generally breezy but rather cloudy day for much of the UK with some bright or sunny spells and further showers, particularly in the west and northwest. Gales and heavy rain will reach northwestern areas during the evening, moving steadily southeastwards overnight.

Outlook for Tuesday and Wednesday:
Rain clearing eastwards early Tuesday while gales gradually ease through the day. Colder weather and blustery showers following later, showers mainly in the west and heavy at times. Milder conditions returning on Wednesday with further rain in places, particularly over northern hills. Drier conditions to the south with some brighter spells, particularly in the southeast.
