

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Thursday 02 Oct 2008

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:

A band of heavy showers will spread southwards through eastern and southeastern counties of England during the morning, clearing away during the afternoon. Generally bright or sunny with scattered showers elsewhere. Feeling cold in the strong northerly winds, especially in the heavier showers. Further rain will reach Northern Ireland and Western Scotland through the evening.

Outlook for Saturday and Sunday:

Outbreaks of rain, heavy at times together with strong southwesterly winds will spread across most areas on Saturday. Another band of heavy rain and strong winds is expected to spread across all parts on Sunday. Generally mild, but colder and brighter in northern Scotland.

(C) Crown Copyright 2008. Published by the Met Office.