

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0700 on Sunday 10 Apr 2016

++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
We'll see a bright, crisp start for most today with plenty of sunshine. Rain, occasionally heavy in the southwest, will be accompanied by strong winds with coastal gales. Rain from the southwest will move into the central slice tonight. By dawn it'll track back towards the southwest, with skies clearing behind it.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

Rain, heavy at times, will affect southern and central parts on Monday, with some rain to northeast Scotland. The best of the brightness will be across northern England and it'll feel warm here. Some rain will linger in the north on Tuesday, with sunshine and showers further south.
