

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1945 on Wednesday 12 May 2010

++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
Scotland and Northern Ireland will be cloudy with outbreaks of rain or drizzle. This will tend to peter out from the west during the afternoon. After a frosty start most of England and Wales should have a fine morning. Showers will develop again for a time, particularly inland.

Outlook for Friday and Saturday:
Another unsettled day with showery outbreaks of rain for Friday. Parts of eastern and southeastern England though should stay dry. Saturday stays changeable with a mixture of sunshine and showers. The showers are likely to be locally heavy and it will be breezy in the north and west.

(C) Crown Copyright 2010. Published by the Met Office.