++ Valid for broadcast at 0858

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom until dawn tomorrow:
Scattered, heavy showers will develop over England and Wales today with a risk of thunder, but some places bright and dry. Outbreaks of rain over northern Scotland and moving up the east coast, heavy in places. This rain will spread across northern England overnight turning heavy at times. Elsewhere, rain or showers will continue, some places becoming dry later.

Outlook for Monday and Tuesday:

On Monday there will be showery outbreaks of rain moving south across England and Wales, some heavy bursts possible in the east at first, but generally brighter later. Drier across Scotland. Tuesday will be cool with rain or heavy showers.
