++ Valid for broadcast at 2159

Here is the forecast for the United Kingdom for daytime tomorrow:
It will remain unsettled for most of the UK tomorrow, with heavy showers developing once again, particularly across the northern half of the country. Southern areas will be drier and see the best of any sunshine, but a few light showers are still possible. Winds will be lighter and it should feel a little warmer too.

Outlook for Sunday and Monday:

The changeable theme to the weather will continue with sunny spells and scattered showers. Some showers may turn heavy, especially across the north of the country. The best of the drier and brighter conditions will be over southern areas, where it will feel warmer.
